

ILLUSTRATED SPORTING & THEATRICAL NEWS

VOL. IV.—No. 194]

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1865.

[PRICE TWOPENCE

TOM SAYERS AND HIS FATHER.

(From a Photograph by Newcombe, Hastings.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

THE "ILLUSTRATED SPORTING NEWS" BELT

Breast, White, who as a couple of days behind, shortly giving up. Coming down the slide for the last time, Stockwell played with his man, whom he beat a few days, but as they nearly home the young one spoiled ineffectually. The first heat was won by the favorite, Second heat: C. Eden, 140; S. Sketon, 120; 2d, Jenner, 120. Eden took the lead shortly after the start, and was never passed. The third heat was won by the same pair. First heat: Fielding's lad, 120; Chasen, 90yds., 1st; Fielding, City, 130; Blorry, 120. Fielding's lad walked in a sort of twilight, and great credit is due to Mr. Woodstock for his exertions to secure fair walking conditions. Fielding were both ordered off the track, and the winner went to Brown who had been previously disqualified for not paying his entrance money. Mr. Gowing was starter, and Mr. Woodstock acted as referee. The final heat will be run off to-day.

BY JOSEPH GAMGEE, SEN.

The above is not only good practice for hunters, but for tired, hard- ridden and driven horses of all classes.

As to the question of bruising the oats, and cutting the hay into chaff, I was taught to do both, but for a long while past have ceased to adopt either of these details. I know that I am exposing views not in accordance with the present practice; that, however, I cannot help; I have read and heard all that has been written, and is worth reading, on the matter, and that is much.

I have seen and compared horses subjected to the different modes, and also the economical side of the matter, and I have to meet the indisputable fact, that when fed with unbruised oats some grains escape being broken down by the teeth, and, if so, certainly pass through the alimentary canal without being acted on by the digestive process, or giving any nourishment to the system.

I shall, however, place in opposition to the above fact another, and assert that I can feed horses, and produce better working condition, with a given quantity of unbrained oats than I have seen anybody else accomplish. But sparrows fatten on the oats which they gather for themselves, and the same is true of the horse. The fact, therefore, effects that, notwithstanding birds and poultry find whole oats, the horse's condition is perfect under the method, I act on that fact. Effects and economy constitute the sum total of my plan, and I find the explanation under the theory that digestion and assimilation is accomplished more rapidly in the unbrained than in the bran. I have accomplished more or more be passed without the bran acted upon, the necessity of bran, give better results than the unbrained do when crushed.

MATCHES TO COME

NOVEMBER.

25.—Hans and Bramall—800 yards, £25 a side, City Ground, Manchester.
25.—Mingling-lane Club Athletic Sports.
26.—Hunting and walking the dogs—London, Hounslow, Hackney Wick.
27.—Brown of Stratford to run 10 miles while Dixon waits seven miles, £10 a side, Bow.
27.—Hans and Lax—150 yards, £10 a side, Hyde Park, Shoefeld.
27.—Bateman and Rogers—160 yards, £10 a side, Four Crosses, Wetherhampton.
28.—Hunt and Packer—100 yards, £10 a side, Newmarket, Newmarket.
28.—Bentley and O'Neill—150 yards, £10 a side, Strawberry Hotel Grounds, Liverpool.
29.—Messrs. Mellor and Haigh's 710 yards Handicap, £10, Hyde Park, Shoefeld.
29.—Messrs. Darley and Haigh's All England 330 yards handicap, £30, Hyde Park, Shoefeld.
29.—Lodge and Strick—130 yards, Tongue-shed, £11 6s. 10d. Shilbury.

4.—Tudor and Webb—120 yards, £10 a side, Britannia Grounds, Tipton.
 14.—Sherwood and Price—830 yards, £10 a side, Arboretum, Worcester.
 4, 11.—125 Yards Handicap, £5 10s., Britannia Grounds, Tipton.
 9.—Bishop and Bramall—120 yards, £25 a side, City Grounds, Manchester.
 9.—North London Howling Club Athletic Sports, Brompton, two p.m.

- 11.—Crew and Holliman—150 yards, £10 a side, the latter to receive five yards start inside, Brompton.
- 11.—Holden and Hough—120 yards, £10 a side, Vale Recreation Grounds.
- 11.—Jones and Thomas—140 yards, £30 a side, Canton Common, near Cardiff.
- 11.—Jones and Taylor—130 yards, £50 a side, Royal Oak Grounds, Manchester.
- 11.—Albison and Nuttall—800 yards, £10 a side, City Grounds, Manchester.
- 11.—West London Rowing Club Athletic Sports.
- 11.—Cole and Paskins—300 yards, 45 a side, Brompton.
- 11.—Albison and Nuttall—400 yards, £25 a side, City Grounds, Manchester.

WEST LONDON GROUNDS, BROMPTON.
WEST LONDON ROWING CLUB ATHLETIC SPORTS.—This club commence the season for athletic sports at the Brompton Grounds on Saturday, the 16th December, when, in addition to several club races, the following are announced:—All members of amateur rowing clubs are invited to compete for a silver SAFURDAY.—DONOHUE AND BARBER.—A spin of 50 yds for a "firer" was won by the former man by half a yard.

MONDAY.—Though the day was unfavourable through the heavy damp and mist which fell there was a large muster to witness three events.

ROSSER AND OLIVER.—The first was a 150 yds sprint, for £5 a side, between Robert Rosser, of Lambeth, and Frederick Oliver, of Whitefriars. After nearly a quarter of an hour had been wasted at scratch they went off, Oliver taking the lead throughout, and winning by a yard and a half. Mr. E. Jones

FORD AND HOBBS.—The race of this day, and that which concluded the sports, were between Charles O'Malley, of Bermondsey, and John Hobbs, of Southwark, for a "tweener." O'Malley got off a yard in advance, and ran home a winner by

BOW.
PRINCE OF WALES'S GROUND—On Saturday afternoon a considerable number of persons were present to witness several handicap races on these grounds for prizes given by the well-known ped. John Goulding. Though the day was not over pleasant, the afternoon's sport was a capital one, and consisted of
 1. Mrs. J. H. HARRISON for a silver watch: second prize, 7s 6d.; third prize, 3s 6d.

[illegible]

KIRK AND JOHNSON.—The next race was a spin of 120 yds, for $5 a side, between H. Kirk and W. Johnson, both of Woolwich. Goodling attended to Kirk, and Old Scott did the needful for Johnson. The batting was 6 to 0 on Kirk, and after five false starts, and when the "quarter" was nearly up they got off pretty well together. After running half the distance, Kirk was by about two feet, but Johnson reached his man, and they ran breast a breast home, where Kirk, having the "pull" landed a winner on the post.

ONE MILE WALKING HANDICAP, for a silver cup, second 10s, third 5s, and so on. First heat: Stockwell, scratch, 71; Watson's lat, 140 yds, 71; White, 140 yds, 71; Bennett, 130. Bennett resigned at the end of the first lap, when Watson was well in front, and Stockwell had nearly White by about 75 yds. The second heat White won round the second time Stockwell passed White, and reached Watson's post coming round the top. They raced together, and passed the post about a

ASRON CROSS.—These grounds were attended on Monday by nearly 1,000 spectators, in consequence of the great interest of the matches to be decided, which came off in the following order:—

S. DORTON, AND W. BAKER, both of Oldbury, to run 100 yards, for £5 a side and the gate money. Mr. Shakespeare, of the Harmonic Inn, Oldbury, was appointed referee, but in his absence that office was filled by Mr. C. Bolton Betting area. Dorton was attended by Bailey, under whom he had trained, and Baker by Shellard, who had superintended his exercises. Ten minutes were allowed on the score, within which time they both went off level, Dorton ran slightly ahead the greater part of the distance and won by half a yard.

Kirkham, of West Bromwich, and Foster, of Oldbury, to run 120 yards, for £10 a side and a bet of £10. The same parties ran a similar match about Oct. 21st, which was won by Kirkham by half a yard. Foster complained that he lost in consequence of a false start on his side, and on this occasion the choice of the referee was left to him. Mr. J. Coster was the referee, and the match was arranged at 6 and 7 to 4 on Kirkham. On going to the score Kirkham was attended by the veteran Mr. Alsop, of Hill Top, usuer whom he had trained (and to whom great praise is due) in having him out in such perfection, and after a few words to West Bromwich, Mr. Foster was called on to start. After some little time a capital start was made, but Kirkham soon went ahead, and at half distance was two yards in front, and although Foster exerted himself to the utmost it was without effect, as Kirkham came in winner by a yard.

and a half.
YAKSAD and WAREING, both of Wednesday, to run 100 yards, for £5 a side.
YAKSAD the money, Wareing to have three yards start. Mr. P. Hayes, of Wednesday, stakeholder and referee. They were attended by their respective trainers Garrett looking after Wareing, and J. Allen doing the needful for Yaksad.
Betting even, Wareing for choice. After a short time had elapsed an even start was made, but WUT was too good for YAKSAD, and he got the advantage, and after a well-contested race he came in winner by a foot only.
BO-WEEL, of Birmingham, and J. GLAZ, of Wolverton, are matched to run 120 yards, for £10 a side, to be decided at Aston Cross, on Saturday, December 12th.

G. HILL will take 5 yards in 120 and run Kirkham, of West Bromwich, for £1 a side. Money ready at the Traveller's Rest, Pershon-road, or he will run J Glave, of Wolverton, 120 yards, for £10 a side. Money ready at the Traveller's Rest, Aston-road, Birmingham.

G. UNDERHILL and T. FREEMAN, both of Birmingham, are matched to run 12 yards for 25s a lie, at Aston Cross Grounds, on Monday December 4. The money to be included with the stakes. Mr. T. Cooper, Market Hall Tavern, Billingsgate, final stakeholder and referee.

KIRKHAM of West Bromwich will take 5 yards in 120 and run Boswell, of Birmingham, for £10 or £15 a side, or he will run Bailey, of Oldbury, the same distance if he will give 3 yards start. Money ready at Mr. F. Green's High Lane Laidie, Spoon-lane, West Bromwich.

T. LONG will run J. Glover 100 yards for £5 or £10 a side. Money ready at Mr. Humpages, Acorn Tavern, Garrison-lane, Birmingham.

SHERWOOD AND PRICE.—The half mile match between these runners for £10 a side will be run at the Arboritum Grounds, Worcester, on Monday, December 11th.

STONEFIELD GROUNDS.—ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY YARDS HANDICAP.—Mr. John Steel having offered £5 for the first, £1 the second, 10s. as third prize in this 180 yards handicap, the first heats were run on Saturday last, at the

[illegible]

VICTORIA GROUNDS.—DUFFIELD AND WHITEHEAD.—These loads lads met at the above grounds on Saturday last to run 100 yards, for £6 a side. Duffield was a hot favourite, as much as 6 to 4 and 2 to 1 being freely laid upon him.

and so closely was the race contested that the layers of the odd were anything but comfortable. Some time was spent at the scratch, but after a lapse of about a quarter of an hour they got well away together, running breast and breast until within five or six yards of home, when, with a severe effort, Duffield breaststayed the tape about a foot in front of his opponent. Mr. Garnett was referee.

LACEY AND MALLEHAM.—T. Jackson, of Bradford, and T. Malleham

the Express Inn, Manchester-road, Bradford, to run 200 yards at these grounds for £10 a side, on Saturday, the 25th inst., on which day the final deposit of £1 is to be posted. Mr. J. Woolfoot is referee.

NEWCASTLE-UPON-TYNE.
FENHAM-PARK RUNNING GROUNDS (Saturday, Nov. 13).—The programme of sports justified the numerous attendance here to-day. The weather was very fine, and the public appeared to enjoy the exhilarating effects of the pure bracing atmosphere, and the excitement attending a string of five moderate matches. The first contest was an off-handed one, and was not advertised, the performers Billon and Herring, for £6, distance 160 yds. So as not to meddle with other matches, the race occurred a short time after midday, when the attendance was not so large as on the previous day. The friends of the above "Not being cognisant of the fact that the race was to be run, they were not present, so that such an event was on the taps, we of course did not see the race, but our information received. As the saying is, we understand that the contention was perhaps worthy of a better cause. As it was the dispute proved a tough one throughout, and an exhibition of neat running and a good deal of show, showed himself to be the equal of the last straw and with a half-a-dozen inches more, he would have been the victor. The next event attracted a good number of visitors. The distance was one mile, between J. Watt, of Felling Thore, and J. Finningham, of Howork, for £10 a side.

Watt receiving 2 yds start. The grounds being 693 yds in circumference, 3 laps 1089 yds had to be traversed to constitute the required distance. But we fear the distance race, especially when well contested, is a pretty stiff trial, who expected a closer finish, than the running and result illustrated. Although Finningham was the driver of the cart and the betting altogether in his favor, 3 and as much as 4 to 1 was offered on him. As soon as the start was made the latter made up considerable ground, but Watt was equal to the effort, and if anything he soon after increased on the start given; the race progressed thus during the remainder of the two finishing laps, when Watt proved the winner of an easy race by nearly 25 yds.

G. Laws, of Weyington, and J. Markus, of Leeds, 123 yards, for E. Harkus having 3 yards start allowed. This was the principal match of the afternoon and the attendance considerable. The match was over in 15 minutes and the attendance was large. Three Saturdays back both the men ran and were defeated. Harkus on that occasion met Brannan, of Cow Quay, a promising young pad, when he suffered an easy vanquishment; on the same day Laws was beaten by Scott, of Wellington Quay. This match therefore was somewhat of a spoils match. The referee, Mr. J. J. O'Connell, was a man of the mark. Mr. E. Sterling was referee, and he appointed a Temple to the post of referee. Fifteen minutes were allowed for a start in default to go by pistol. The race should have taken place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

[illegible]

Burns, a novelty, produced was a new opera burlesque by Mr. F. O. Burnard, so titled, "L'Africaine, or the Queen of the Caninial Islands." We may at once say that this new piece of extravagance is fairly up to the level of Mr. Burnard's previous burlesque productions, and characteristically of his. It is not a good thing to give the name of the author to any other burlesque writer who brings to rest upon his work so great a fund of practical humour; and in the parodying of songs, especially of Italian songs, he stands almost without a competitor. There are, however, happy touches of originality, and a few lines of good sense are present. Upon the whole, however, the wedding of burlesque, song, and original music has not been so thoroughly effected as in the preceding Strand burlesque of "Windsor Castle." As far as the wedding goes, the present is a failure. The music is a mixture of the good and the bad, and the more tedious form of Scrib's "book" seems to be the basis; but the music of Mr. F. Masgrave seems to waver constantly between originality and parody, and lacks the decisive comico-opera character which distinguished his "Windsor Castle" from previous efforts. The music is, however, well adapted to the scenes, and the most emphatically popular vocal and instrumental places of the day, including the best-known morceaux from the best-known operas. However, though not equal in freshness to the music of "Windsor Castle," it is bright and pleasant, and the singing-song in the "L'Africaine" will very likely be remembered at the same time as the music of the first treatment of the story of "L'Africaine" Mr. Burnard has followed the opera-book throughout, each act of Scrib's libretto furnishing a scene for a burlesque. To indicate the kind of transformation effected, the names of the characters of the original play are given in parentheses, the names of the actors of the different characters. As represented by Mr. T. Stojelo, the hero, Vasco di Gama, becomes as to costume, and partly as to language, a sort of stage pirate of the old "penny plain and tuppence coloured" type; Neluco, played by Mr. D. J. Jannet, is represented by Mr. T. Stojelo, who is a very good singer; and the character of Miss Louisa Pyro WILSON'S MUSIC HALL, STATION-STREET.—Mr. Will Felix's benefit, on Thursday last, was a complete success, the change however that has been made this week is not for the best. Yankee Jones is good.

THE GARDEN.

KITCHEN GARDEN.

Wheeling out manure, composts, earths, &c., trenching, draining, making new walks, and repairing old ones, are amongst the principal operations at the present season in this department. Always make choice of suitable weather for performing each, with a view to despatch and good order. Asparagus, another bed should be prepared in the end of the week if a succession is required. Celery, it is necessary to take advantage of every favourable opportunity to earth-up all that requires it; rather let it remain as it is than attempt to do this while wet, as the stalks will afterwards rot in a very short time. Cucumbers will require constant attention in stopping and tying to the trellis. During very dull weather the plants should not be excited to so great a degree by heat and water as in clear weather, neither should they be allowed to swell off so many fruit at one time. Herb-beds, if they are not yet cleaned and done up for the winter, should be attended to without delay; a slight coat of very rotten dung should be laid on them for the purpose of protecting the roots from frost, and to enrich the soil. Lettuce, the Cabbage varieties planted in frames, intended for winter use, will not require much air if the soil is light and dry; should they require a little water, give it to each plant from a watering-pot without a rose. Never expose the plants to heavy rains. Sea-kale, a little leaf-mould, tan, or cinder-dust, should be laid over the crowns of the plants, pots may then be put over a portion of the plantation, and be covered with leaves as these are collected; if required for use in a short time, stable-dung to be used. Spinach, in gathering the leaves the beds to be troublesome little as possible, as the growth is injured by having the soil consolidated about the roots. If sufficiently light and dry the surface of the soil to be loosened. The heavy autumn rains, probably, retarded the progress of trenching and other ground operations, but the present weather offers abundant opportunity for continuing such works.

FRUIT GARDEN.

Continue to prepare for fruit-tree planting by draining, trenching, and pulverizing the soil, and after planting stake, tie, and mulch the trees securely in good time. Too little importance is in general attached to mulching; for whether we consider the immense utility of shutting in, or rather arresting the departure of the remaining ground heat of the past summer, or imparting nutritious principles to the soil for the ensuing year, the operation is one not to be neglected. It ought to be well considered that the soil has nothing in the way of temperature to gain between this period and the end of February, but, on the contrary, a progressive loss must ensue for the next two months at least, unless we resort to the practice of mulching. Clear away dead leaves from the wall trees, and remove the green fruit from the figs. The established strong-growing fruit trees that are tardy of producing fruit should undergo the operation of root-pruning. This must be performed according to circumstances. If the trees are planted too deep, or the soil has been raised above or about them since planting, by all means fork the roots out carefully, and plant them again with care on the surface, spreading them out judiciously, and then mulch. If trees to be operated upon are planted high and dry, fork about them at a reasonable distance, and prune back the main or strongest roots as you discover them. Raspberry plantations may be cleared of the dead canes and superfluous wood; the suckers to be taken off, and the strongest should be at once planted for a succession.

FLOWER GARDEN.

Alterations, planting, &c., will be carried on this autumn with much comfort, as far as the weather is concerned, and those who have employed additional labour to carry out these affairs will have little to regret in the spring. All tender or half-hardy shrubs should have some protection planned forth with, and especially the tender kinds of Roses. Standards of the latter may have a dry bunch of moss, a wisp of hay or straw, or some dried fern, bound round the head, and the whole well fastened to a stake. A fortnight's really fine weather in November, while it seems to prolong the autumn, by permitting us the enjoyment of the fading glories of vegetation, affords the always-appreciated opportunity of proceeding with the various important operations connected with the garden. A little care may preserve Chrysanthemums, particularly those trained against a wall for some time; the simple protection of a net will ward off the excess of frost likely to injure them. Take up and store Marvel of Peru, Dahlias, and Salvia patens if not already done, and finish planting bulbs and Anemones. If the beds have not been yet filled with spring-flowering plants, we would suggest to plant some beds with an edging of Crocus, followed by Hepaticas, double Primroses, Scillas, Hyacinths, and Narcissus in successive rows. If a portion of the garden is devoted permanently to plants calculated to render it gay at a cheerful season, plant the bright-hued Pernettyas, hardy Ericas, Daphnes, the winter-blooming Jasminum, the old Sanguinaria canadensis, Adonis vernalis, Winter Heliotrope, Anemone apennina, Myosotis intermedia, the charming little Veronica alpestris, which covers the ground with its green compact foliage like a carpet, the elegant little Saxifraga oppositifolia major and minor, Aubrietia deltoidea, Orobancha verna, and Arabis verna. These, with bulbs, render a garden gay at a very early season.

BILLY DUNCAN, the celebrated "Inspector" of the Pri-a King.
(From a photograph by Newhall.)

CONSERVATORY AND GREENHOUSE.

Every decaying leaf should now be instantly removed from these houses, for at this season, when the plants are in high health, covered with dark green foliage, and bending beneath gorgeous flowers, the contrast is more delightful than at any other period, and whilst the week outside is daily increasing, the art of gardening becomes more manifest within. We need scarcely urge thorough cleanliness in all other points. Drip must be studiously avoided in these structures, not only on account of the flowers, but the comfort of the proprietors. The stock of plants to bloom at Christmas, consisting partly of stove plants grown for that purpose, and partly of forced bulbs and shrubs, should now receive some attention, particularly the former, which should be undergoing a slight amount of forcing to bring them into bloom at that time. Chinese Azaleas and Oranges may be assisted by a little extra heat, being careful, however, to apply it gradually. At the same time, if a forcing-house is at command, a portion of the stock of roses, lilacs, syringas, deutzias, and other hardy shrubs from the reserve pit may be placed in the cool end of it, or in a light situation in an early vinery or peach-house; if they can be afforded a slight bottom heat all the better. A few of the more easily forced American plants, including some of the earliest-flowering rhododendrons should be added, they will greatly enhance the display in January. Bring forward hyacinths and early tulips in a gentle bottom heat. Double Roman narcissus, crocuses, Neapolitan violets, nigromenta, and cyclamens bloom early without much forcing, and answer best placed on shelves at the back of the vinery to catch every ray of light and to insure them from damp.—Cottage Gardener.

RABBIT COURSING.

NEWCASTLE.

A coursing match, the best of 15 rabbits, came off on the heath on Saturday last for £30, between Mr. Wardle's Underhand and Mr. Bell's Underhand Meg, 50 yards law. Although the latter dog had the advantage in height by one inch, they both started from one mark. The fame of the dogs being great and the prospect of a close contest, both caused a batch of spectators to assemble and a vast amount of betting to take place during the match. Underhand commenced the business at 10.4, but the betting fluctuated very much, in one instance 4 to 1 being laid the other way; at that time Meg stood 6 rabbits and Underhand 5 rabbits. Underhand got 31 13-8 rabbits, and Meg 22-6 rabbits. Underhand consequently won by 2 courses. Many of the courses were excellent and excitedly run.

SHEFFIELD.

QUEEN'S HOTEL GROUNDS.—On Saturday Spencer's Whistle and Slack's Dinah met to decide a match for £10 a side, the best of 15 courses, 55 yards law. Betting was 12 to 10 on Whistle, who won easily, as will be seen by the following list: Whistle got the 1st, 3rd, 5th, 8th, 10th, 11th, 13th; total, 8. Dinah, 2nd, 4th, 6th, 12th; total, 4. There was one undecided course, the 7th. Mr. O. Robinson was slipper, and Mr. J. Dearden referee.

THE RECENT BENEFIT OF BILLY DUNCAN AT THE GRECIAN THEATRE

TOM SAYERS IN HIS FAMOUS TRAP WITH HIS DOG "LION."

THE GRAVE OF TOM SAYERS IN HIGHGATE CEMETERY.

A man named John Hutchinson, who appears to be an accomplished swimmer, was convicted at the Middlesex Sessions on Wednesday for being in a boat on the river, and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

While in treaty for a residence in the country on the one hand, and represented himself as a tradesman in London on the other, a living in the country, and the removal of the goods on the basis of the representation succeeded in obtaining goods to a considerable extent. He was sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

A violent storm broke over the metropolis on Wednesday morning, doing much harm in various quarters, blowing down chimney stacks, leveling uninhabited houses, and in some cases tearing off the roofs of buildings. This happened at the railway terminus now erecting in Cannon-street for the South-Eastern Railway Company, and a man was killed. The gale was also felt in various parts of the country.

CRICKET.

RICHMOND CRICKET CLUB.
BATTING AVERAGES.

Batemen.

Batemen.	Runs.	Matches.	Innings.	Times not out.	Average.
W. G. Oastard	68	2	1	1	68.0
C. J. P. Laurell	48	1	1	1	48.0
Spencer C. Smith	37	2	2	0	37.0
S. V. Gibb	37	2	2	0	37.0
E. C. Follett	163	6	7	0	23.3
J. Hales	370	18	18	4	20.1
H. Doolley	377	19	19	2	19.6
M. M. Walsh	65	4	4	0	16.3
F. P. Salomons	10	1	1	0	10.0
H. Ebon	417	20	29	14	11.1
C. J. Eton	255	13	19	2	13.8
Major Ridley	118	9	9	4	13.1
J. J. Bawell	13	1	1	0	13.0
A. W. Park	215	13	19	2	11.6
R. Barton	113	7	10	0	11.3
Major Penrhyn	11	1	1	0	11.0
M. A. Stophard	162	9	12	1	10.2
F. L. Robinson	64	5	6	0	10.7
P. A. H. Terrell	34	4	3	0	10.4
W. P. Nottingham	63	4	6	0	10.5
P. O. Kingston	49	3	4	1	10.3
G. Sells	110	11	12	4	9.1
Col. Mosley	79	7	9	4	8.8
E. Ash	56	6	6	1	9.2
A. Hinde	25	2	3	0	8.3
W. Soley	32	4	4	1	8.0
W. Piggett	142	14	18	3	8.9
H. Emanuel	102	10	12	2	7.1
Col. Beresford	146	14	20	1	7.3
H. O. Boyes	131	13	18	1	7.5
J. Allington	84	8	12	1	7.0
H. Barton	35	3	5	0	7.0
F. Piggett	22	2	3	0	7.3
E. M. Walsh	110	13	21	0	6.1
F. G. Trevor	55	6	8	0	6.1
G. Hillard	24	3	4	1	6.0
F. Meyer	28	2	4	0	5.3
E. Morris	44	7	11	0	4.0
R. G. Cobham	19	4	4	3	4.3
A. H. J. Douglas	142	14	18	3	3.9
M. Max	37	10	10	3	3.7
H. J. Pont	35	9	11	3	3.2
J. H. B. Kendall	30	7	10	1	3.0
A. Ash	22	2	6	0	3.4
W. Bullard	18	4	5	1	3.6
N. Ash	13	3	4	0	3.1
W. Robinson	12	3	4	0	3.0

NEWARK CLUB.

Of the thirteen matches played by the club they won four, lost eight, and one was drawn.

Newark, May 8: Magnus v Newark. Magnus, 105. Newark 106 and 87 (with six wickets down), total 173. Magnus won by 89 runs on the first innings.

Peterborough, May 29: Peterborough v Newark. Peterborough, 59 and 87, total 146. Newark, 38 and 50, total 88. Peterborough won by 8 runs.

Newark, June 19 and 20. Nottingham Commercial Club v Newark. Nottingham Commercial Club, 79 and 89, total 168. Newark, 59 and 109 (with four wickets down), total 169. Newark won by 6 wickets.

Newark, June 29 and 30: Newark v Burton-on-Trent. Newark, 108. Burton-on-Trent (with seven wickets down), 34. Drawn, with 10 runs on the first innings.

York, July 10 and 11: Yorkshire Gentlemen v Newark. Yorkshire Gentlemen, 110 and 26 (with two wickets down), total 136. Newark, 39 and 95, total 134. Yorkshire Gentlemen won by eight wickets.

Nottingham, July 21 and 22: Newark v Nottingham Commercial Club. Newark, 134 and 62, total 194. Nottingham Commercial Club, 97 and 99 (with seven wickets down), total 196. Nottingham won by three wickets.

Newark, July 31: Peterborough v Newark. Peterborough, 34 and 97, total 131. Newark, 152. Newark won in one innings and 81 runs.

Lincoln, Aug. 7: Newark v Lincoln. Newark, 119 and 81, total 193. Lincoln, 114. Lincoln won by two runs on the first innings.

Newark, Aug. 14: Bedford v Newark. Bedford, 72 and 59 (with four wickets down), total 131. Newark, 128. Newark won by 56 runs on the first innings.

Newark, Aug. 28 and 29: Yorkshire Gentlemen v Newark. Yorkshire Gentlemen, 87 and 65, total 152. Newark, 92 and 55, total 147. Yorkshire Gentlemen won by 5 runs.

Bedford, Sept. 7: Newark v Bedford. Newark, 123. Bedford, 60 and 104, total 164. Newark won by 63 runs on the first innings.

Newark, Sept. 14: Magnus Club v Newark. Magnus Club, 200 and 13 (with three wickets down), total 213. Newark, 177. Magnus won by 25 runs on the first innings.

Newark, Sept. 18: Lincoln v Newark. Lincoln, 147. Newark, 109. Lincoln won by 89 runs on the first innings.

BATTING AVERAGES.

Batemen.	Matches.	Innings.	Runs.	Most in an innings.	Most in a match.	Times not out.	Average per innings.
H. Slater	12	15	273	61*	65	2	18.2
J. G. Bavor	9	14	200	55*	72	2	14.3
D. Pockington	8	11	147	30	33	1	13.4
C. Smith	10	13	172	81*	81*	2	13.3
Rev. J. M. Dolphin	5	7	93	32	32	0	13.2
J. Daglish	10	12	79	29	36	0	11.6
A. Shaw	13	15	186	37	37	5	12.4
E. M. H. Kiddell	8	9	101	17	23	3	11.2
G. Eton	10	14	127	24	34	1	9.1
J. G. Brantist	3	3	26	18	19	2	8.2
J. Clark	7	10	84	23	26	0	8.1
Rev. F. Hoppenstall	2	2	17	12	12	0	8.5
W. Horsley	2	2	16	8	8	0	8.0
J. T. Lunn	8	11	82	23	23	0	7.5
F. Allott	7	10	70	16	21	0	7.0
Sir Henry Bromley	7	10	70	16	21	0	7.0
G. Pritchett	3	2	12	6	6	1	6.0
A. Bavor	6	9	40	19	32	0	5.1
W. H. G. Oates	4	6	29	24	24	0	4.5
J. Harvey	3	4	19	12	12	0	4.3
H. Hardy	3	4	13	14	14	0	3.5
John Hogg	3	4	13	7	7	0	3.1
J. S. Hutchinson	2	3	8	5	5	0	2.2

*Not out.

BOWLING AVERAGES.

Bowlers.

Bowlers.	Innings.	Balls.	Runs.	Maidens.	Wickets.	Runs per wicket.	No ball.	Wides.	Wickets per innings.
A. Shaw	19	1721	482	148	66	7.2	1	0	3.9
A. Slater	19	1721	482	148	66	7.2	1	0	3.9
Rev. F. Hoppenstall	7	74	17	6	2	8.5	0	0	3.1
A. Bavor	2	144	59	5	6	9.5	0	0	3.0
G. Eton	2	102	46	5	9	9.1	0	0	2.2
E. M. H. Kiddell	10	841	222	41	19	11.3	0	0	1.9
D. Pockington	6	300	96	34	11	8.3	0	0	1.5
J. S. Hutchinson	2	93	36	6	3	12.0	0	0	1.1

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, OXFORD.

During the season the University played sixteen matches, of which they won eight and lost three. Five were drawn.

BATTING ANALYSIS.

Batemen.	Matches.	Inns (not out included).	Runs.	Times not out.	Average.
A. A. Wilnot	15	15	522	2	34.1
W. E. Bryan	10	10	238	1	23.8
P. Thresham	14	14	304	1	21.7
R. Crawley	6	6	3	24	0
G. Bull	8	8	147	0	18.4
W. H. Alsopp	11	10	145	1	14.5
R. H. Davis	13	12	162	1	13.5
T. F. Barra	11	11	148	1	13.1
J. J. Causton	12	13	139	0	10.7
H. N. Charlton	12	12	123	1	10.3
W. Macdonald	8	7	69	2	9.9
J. A. Lushon	11	9	83	2	9.2

COUNTY OF NORFOLK.

Derham, May 17: Gentlemen of Essex v Gentlemen of Norfolk. Gentlemen of Essex, 303. Gentlemen of Norfolk, 86 and 172—total, 257. Gentlemen of Essex won in one innings and 46 runs.

Derham, June 14: West of Norfolk v East of Norfolk. West of Norfolk, 163 and 171—total, 334. East of Norfolk, 101 and 127 (with eight wickets down), total, 228. Drawn.

Bury St. Edmunds, June 29: Gentlemen of Suffolk v Gentlemen of Norfolk. Gentlemen of Suffolk, 383. Gentlemen of Norfolk, 60. Drawn.

Derham, July 10: Old Members v Young Members. Old Members, 67 and 141—total, 208. Young Members, 207 and 2 (with ten wickets to go down)—total, 209. Young Members won by ten wickets.

Lea's, July 24: Norfolk v M.C.C. and Ground. Norfolk, 46 and 147—total, 193. M.C.C. and Ground, 236. M.C.C. and Ground won in one innings and 43 runs.

Boston, Aug. 10: Lincolnshire v Norfolk. Lincolnshire, 317. Norfolk, 124 and 79—total, 197. Lincolnshire won in one innings and 120 runs.

Norwich, Aug. 30: West Norfolk v East Norfolk. West Norfolk, 125 and 50—total, 184. East Norfolk, 185 and 50 (with four wickets down)—total, 185. East Norfolk won by six wickets.

KENSINGTON PARK CRICKET CLUB.

BATTING AVERAGES.

Batemen.	Matches.	Innings.	Runs.	Most in an innings.	Most in a match.	Least in a match.	Times not out.	Average.
T. Oase	1	1	40	40	40	0	0	40.0
T. A. Rayner	2	2	42	22	22	0	0	21.0
W. E. Bayliff	2	2	42	22	22	0	0	21.0
C. W. Sheafeld	3	3	59	24	24	13	0	19.7
T. Burns	4	4	76	35	36	12	0	19.0
L. Lancaster	2	2	54	33	33	1	0	18.0
W. McGonick	2	2	54	33	33	1	0	18.0
R. S. Mason	4	4	33	14	14	0	3	16.1
C. Stirling	3	3	21	27	27	0	1	15.1
H. W. Murray	3	3	31	31	31	0	0	15.1
A. Hamming	2	2	30	26	26	4	0	15.0
A. R. Daly	14	15	267	38	67	0	2	14.5
E. Hall	2	2	26	14	14	0	0	13.0
M. R. Lochner	6	7	81	42	42	0	0	11.6
M. Barton	6	6	62	27	27	1	0	10.3
B. Barker	6	6	62	27	27	1	0	10.3
J. E. Edwards	2	2	20	20	20	0	0	10.0
J. Ward	2	2	20	20	20	0	0	10.0
S. H. Churchill	5	5	47	20	20	0	1	9.4
J. Parkinson	8	10	91	29	27	3	1	9.1
H. Price	2	2	17	17	17	0	0	8.5
Capt. S. Edwards	4	4	38	24	24	0	0	9.5
Sir O. Leslie	6	8	54	20	20	3	0	6.8
A. G. Renshaw	5	6	33	14	14	0	0	5.5
W. Richardson	3	4	24	12	12	1	0	6.0
G. O. Stafield	3	5	24	8	15	0	0	4.8
J. P. Weatherby	3	3	9	5	5	0	2	4.1
Capt. Carlen	7	9	28	10	10	0	1	3.1
H. D. Blyth	3	3	6	3	3	1	2	2.0
H. Cobles	2	2	6	3	3	0	0	3.0
H. Trotman	2	2	4	3	3	0	0	2.0
Capt. Finch	2	2	2	2	2	0	0	1.0

BRIGHTON COLLEGE MATCHES.

Brunswick Ground, May 8: Brighton College v Brighton. Brighton College, 211. Brighton, 66. Drawn. Brighton had four wickets to fall.

Glynde, May 19: Brighton College v Southdown Club. Brighton College, 172 and 46, total, 218. Southdown Club, 123. Brighton College won by 49 runs.

Lancing, May 24: Brighton College v Lancing College. Brighton College, 180. Lancing College, 54 and 42, total, 96. Brighton College won in one innings and 84 runs to spare.

Lewes, May 29: Brighton College v Lewes Priory. Brighton College, 92 and 35, total, 127. Lewes Priory, 95 and 83, total, 128. Brighton College won by eight wickets.

Tombridge, June 1: Brighton College v Tombridge School. Brighton College, 143 and 92, total, 235. Tombridge School, 121 and 113, total, 234. Brighton College won by six wickets.

Brighton College, June 22: Present v Past. Present, 252. Past, 64. Present won by four wickets.

Brighton College, Sept. 19: Brighton College v Lancing College. Brighton College, 273. Lancing College, 21 and 7, total, 28. Brighton College won in one innings and 245 runs to spare.

Brunswick Ground, Sept. 22: Brighton College v Brighton. Brighton College, 99. Brighton, 36 and 133, total, 169. Brighton College won by 63 runs.

Brunswick Ground, Sept. 28: Brighton College v Tombridge School. Brighton College, 315. Tombridge School, 48 and 100, total, 148. Brighton College won by 167 runs.

THE MANCHESTER CLUB.

Matches played, 25; runs scored, 4085; matches won, 9; lost, 7; drawn, 3; average runs per match, 163; average runs in twenty-nine innings, 140—25 over; average runs per wicket, of which 268 were lost, 15—85 over.

BATTING AVERAGES.

Batemen.	Matches.	Innings.	Runs.	Most in an innings.	Most in a match.	Times not out.	Average.
T. T. Bellhouse	7	7	82	43	43	8	20.2
H. W. Barber	3	3	69	58	58	1	23.0
J. Bousfield	3	3	69	58	58	1	23.0
E. Challenger	2	2	78	54	54	1	39.0
M. Dyson	9	9	76	24	21	1	8.4
J. B. Huntingdon	6	6	73	20	21	2	12.2
J. F. Less	10	11	172	47	47	1	15.6
C. Mason	9	9	81	32	32	1	10.1
John Nelson	5	6	88	30	30	1	17.6
A. Walford	6	6	121	51	51	2	20.2
P. B. Perera	9	10	207	83	83	0	20.7
F. Perera	3	3	67	59	59	0	32.3
A. B. Rowley	3	3	119	66	66	0	23.0
E. B. Rowley	15	16	100	45	45	0	20.0
S. Rowley	15	16	215	53	53	1	14.1
S. H. S. Squire	13	13	214	62	62	0	22.3
R. W. Stead	11	11	154	62	62	0	14.0
W. Sutcliffe	3	3	17	8	8	2	17.0
W. Walker	7	8	18	12	12	0	2.3
E. Whitaker	7	8	273	98	98	2	45.5

QUIDNUNC MATCHES.

Won, three lost, one drawn, eight. Rickling Green, May 20: Quidnuncs v Rickling Green. Quidnuncs, 132. Rickling Green, 74 and 116, total, 190. Draw

GRAVESEND AND MILTON CLUB MATCHES, 1865.

Date and Place.	Sides.	1st Inn.	2nd Inn.	Total.
May 9.....	Gentlemen.....	132.....	—.....	132
Gravesend.....	Players.....	132.....	—.....	132
May 24.....	Gravesend.....	180.....	—.....	180
Gravesend, Town Malling.....	Gravesend.....	119.....	—.....	119
Gravesend, Town Malling.....	Gravesend.....	275.....	—.....	275
June 3.....	Gravesend, South Essex.....	112.....	—.....	112
Gravesend won.	Gravesend won.	115.....	151.....	266
June 9, 10.....	Gravesend.....	151.....	—.....	151
Gravesend.....	Gravesend won by three wickets.	94.....	178.....	272
June 17.....	Gravesend.....	66.....	—.....	66
Gravesend.....	Gravesend won by 28 runs on first innings.	155.....	—.....	155
June 24.....	Gravesend.....	179.....	50.....	229
Gravesend lost by 24 runs on first innings. Runners lost six wickets second innings.	Gravesend won.	140.....	—.....	140
June 26.....	Gravesend.....	125.....	—.....	125
Chatham.....	Gravesend won.	174.....	—.....	174
July 3.....	Gravesend.....	185.....	—.....	185
Chatham.....	Gravesend lost all six wickets.	237.....	—.....	237
July 4.....	Gravesend.....	54.....	48.....	102
Gravesend, Milton.....	Gravesend won.	160.....	—.....	160
July 11.....	Gravesend.....	99.....	—.....	99
Upton Park, South Essex.....	Gravesend won.	134.....	—.....	134
July 14.....	Gravesend.....	65.....	64.....	119
Gravesend, 3rd Depot.....	Gravesend won.	66.....	—.....	66
July 24.....	Gravesend.....	97.....	36.....	133
Town Malling, Town Malling.....	Gravesend lost six wickets on first innings. Town Malling lost six wickets second innings.	154.....	—.....	154
Aug 12.....	Gravesend.....	130.....	—.....	130
Gravesend.....	Gravesend won by three wickets.	85.....	—.....	85
Aug 14.....	Gravesend.....	88.....	—.....	88
Chatham.....	Gravesend won by 28 runs on first innings.	95.....	41.....	136
Aug 23, 24.....	Gravesend.....	237.....	—.....	237
Gravesend.....	Gravesend won by 28 runs on first innings.	143.....	—.....	143
Aug 25, 26.....	Gravesend.....	209.....	—.....	209
Gravesend.....	Gravesend won by 28 runs on first innings.	218.....	—.....	218
Sept 16.....	Gravesend.....	103.....	35.....	138
Gravesend.....	Gravesend won by 28 runs on first innings.	57.....	—.....	57
Sept 26.....	Gravesend.....	490.....	—.....	490
Gravesend.....	Gravesend won by 28 runs on first innings.	—.....	—.....	—

During the past season, therefore, it will be seen that the club played 19 matches, of which 10 were won, four lost, and five drawn. The total number of runs scored was 3,764; for the loss, 198 wickets, giving an average per wicket of 18 runs and 20 over, or an average of about 181 runs per innings.

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

ATHLETIC SPORTS AT CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY.

These sports came off on Monday on Fenners' Ground, and, notwithstanding the unpromising aspect of the weather, attracted a fair number of spectators. The following programme was observed:—
 One Hundred Yards Race.—First heat: Four started; won very cleverly by L. Draw in 10 seconds. Second heat: F. A. Hyett, 1; time, 11 seconds. Won by three yards. Final heat: The following started, Hyett, Roupell, Marrow, Clifford. The first-named got off with the lead and was never caught, winning by a couple of yards; Roupell second.
 One Mile Walking Race.—Five started; D. F. Stevenson, who was very good, maintained the lead for three-quarters of a mile, when G. A. Watson came up with him, and after an exciting struggle took the lead, eventually winning by fifteen yards. Time, 8 min. 42 sec.
 High Jump.—Won by E. Stroud, 4 ft. 9 in. Draw second.
 Two Hundred Yards Race.—First heat: Clifford, 1; Hyett, 2. Second heat: Cheetham, 1; Roupell, 2. Final heat: Roupell, 1; Cheetham, 2. A very exciting race, won by half a yard. Time, 30 sec.
 Titting the Weight (16 lb).—Six completed; Roupell, 1st, 28 lb 2½ in; A. G. Kirby, 2nd, 24½ lb 1 in. W. H. Darton, 3rd, 24½ lb 9 in.
 Quarter Mile Running Race.—This was for a challenge cup. Six of the crack runners of the 'Hall' competed; it was, however, a race only between Cheetham and Milvain, which was over at the end of half a mile. Cheetham then got up the hill passing Milvain in splendid style, and eventually winning in a common error, in 58 sec.
 Throwing the Cricket-ball.—Roupell, 1; Kirby, 2; beating six others.
 Running Long Jump.—Stroud, 1; clearing 17 ft; Clifford, 2; with 15 ft 10 in. in five attempts.
 High Pole Leap.—This was won by that excellent jumper, Milvain, who cleared 7 ft.
 One Hundred and Twenty Yards Hurdle Race.—Roupell won easily, beating two others.
 One Mile Race.—Thirteen started. Draw and Dyke reserved themselves for the last quarter of a mile, when Draw came away, and won after a fine race; Dyke second. Time, 5 min 25 sec.
 Strangers' Quarter Mile Running Race.—This was such a popular event that the race had to be drawn in lots. For the first heat the following started: Lord (Trinity), Ewbank (Clare), Corie (Jesus), Gibbs (Jesus), Pickett (Trinity). Pickett made the running for half the distance, when Gibbs pulled him, and won after a fine race. For the second heat the following started: Quarter (Dorling), Lord (Pembroke), Phelps (Sydney), Mason (Trinity), Roupell (Jesus), Lawes (Trinity), Russell (Trinity), Bishop (Corpus), Pitman (Jesus). Pitman led all the way round till coming into the straight, when, being beaten by Russell and Bishop, he pulled up. Russell won the heat; Bishop being second. The first heat was won most unambiguously by a couple of yards from home, but pulled up too soon, and Gibbs got his breast against the substitute for the time first by six inches.
 Mr. J. Darden won the Hammer Throwing, and Mr. Carpenter the 200 yards Consolation.

ATHLETIC SPORTS AT OXFORD UNIVERSITY.

St. John's College.
 Stewards: W. Baker, E. Bond, and E. Sweet. Judge: H. B. Huskisson.
 These sports came off on the College Cricket-ground on Saturday last. The weather was fine and bright, the ground very heavy.
 100 Yards Flat Race.—A well-contested race was expected, as Mr. Vidal and Mr. E. Nolan had recently distinguished themselves in private contests, but had not as yet got together at this distance. Mr. Vidal proved to be a better man by two yards. Time, 10½ sec.
 Wright a good third.
 High Jump.—Won by Mr. Wright, 5 ft; Mr. T. Nolan, 4 ft 10 in.

Hurdle Race, 120 yards, 10 flights.—An exciting contest decided the final heat in favour of Mr. Fell, who beat Mr. Vidal by a few yards. Time 17 sec.
 Throwing the Hammer.—Won by Mr. Sweet; second, Mr. Sonerville. Quarter of a Mile Race.—For this race Mr. E. Nolan, who had won several open races this term, was a strong favourite, though Mr. Fell was expected to press him hard. Mr. Fell appeared with a load, the race being terrific, and at the half distance led a good ten yards. Here Mr. Nolan made his effort, but Mr. Fell's gameness and excellent condition landed him a good winner by about five yards; Mr. Paterson third. Time 55 sec.
 Throwing the Cricket Ball.—Won by Mr. Adams, 101 yards; Mr. Vidal second, 95 yards.
 Strangers' Race, Quarter of a mile.—A numerous field faced the starter, including Lord Jersey, of Balliol; Messrs. Richards and Edwards, of St. Mary; Messrs. Hoar and Hoar, of Balliol; Messrs. Laing, Moffat, and Dugmore, of Christ Church; Mr. Morgan, of Magdalen Hall; Mr. Dalgetty, of Merion; Mr. Streeter, of Queen's; Mr. Bell Irving, &c. The race was good all through. Mr. Hoar was made favourite, and looked like winning till within 40 yards of home, when his leg gave way. Mr. Morgan then took the pace, and ran in an easy winner; Mr. Laing second; Lord Jersey a fair third.
 Mile Race.—Thirteen started. Mr. Mason made the running to the first lap, after which the first position was held alternately by Messrs. Turner and Dorkin; Mr. Bell's pluck and lasting qualities again brought him in a winner a bare two yards in front of Mr. Turner; Mr. Briggs a good third.
 Long Jump.—Mr. Wright first, 17 ft; Mr. Vidal second, 16 ft 11 in.
 Hurdle Race, 250 yards, 12 flights, for a silver cup, presented by the Rev. S. C. Colver.—Mr. Hoar was the most exciting race between Mr. Vidal and Mr. Fell, the former of whom won by two yards; Mr. E. Nolan, third.
 Two-Mile Race.—Won by Mr. Elwell by four yards; Mr. Fell who pressed the winner very hard; second, Mr. Knapp third.
 Consolation Race, 500 yards, concluded an excellent day's sport. Won by Mr. E. Bond.

LORD W. LENOX ON PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

On Monday night Lord William Lennox delivered a lecture to the members of the Clapham Atheneum on Physical Education. His Lordship said the importance of the question he had undertaken to discuss, and the knowledge he had of the excellent character of the Clapham Atheneum, were the reasons why he had on a short notice consented to make his first appearance as a public lecturer. It must be clear to every one, he said, that without exercise the body loses its tension and the mind becomes flaccid, while those who indulge in many games find their mental powers increased and their bodies invigorated. From time immemorial bodily exercises had been practised by all nations, and never more so than at the present time in our own country. One of the earliest mentions of athletic games was in the second book of the 'Iliad.' When and where the games were played at, as quoted on the beach; and again, in the twenty-third book, Achilles was represented as instituting games in honour of Patroclus, who had been overthrown. At a later period games, according to Plato, were a means of making the mind and body of the youth of the city of Athens, and the games were played in the gymnasium practised dancing, wrestling, boxing, running, leaping, and hunting; the dancing, however, being as different from that of the present day as high-heeled boots were to togas and sandals. Dancing was not only taught, but practised now; wrestling was aided by the use of the cestus. Running was a most popular exercise, and was pursued not only by men and boys, but even by the women. The jumping was done in a manner like that of the foot-steep-chases of the present day. Virgil mentions an amusing game of men jumping on full wine-skins, and maintaining their equilibrium when they came down. The discus or quoit was in large request, as were also implements resembling the modern dumb-bells; while in hurling javelins and other missiles were used. His Lordship then described the sports of the Circus Maximus; and, putting on his own sandals, he stalked to the East to quote the description of the attacking of the hippopotamus, as given by Diodorus. He then noticed a sketch by Davis of a cricket match at Man-Ohang-Poo, in China, played by Englishmen in the presence of a Chinese assemblage. As he reached the class of hunting, my horse and his attendant, the instances of Diana, Apollo, and other deities, as well as the examples of Alexander the Great and Cyrus, went to prove that both the savage and the members of civilised society were always devoted to this sort of sport. In our country, from the reign of Edward I. to James I., the chase had been ardently pursued by the sovereigns. Athletic games, and especially the sport of archery in the Finsbury fields, formed a prominent feature of English life in the time of Henry VIII.; and during this period it was the national character was gathering strength, through the encouragement given by authority to those pursuits where skill and pleasure were combined with outdoor exercise and relaxation. Here were, however, the debasing effects of bull and bear baiting; the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far, indeed, was this spirit carried, that in 1693 Charles I. ordered 'The Book of Sports' to be read in church. Many a clergyman objected to this; one learned divine in particular, the Rev. John Donne, who was the first to read it, refused to do so, and the reading of the Book of Sports was discontinued. In the time of Cromwell sports were almost entirely abolished. About 1730, however, the sports were revived, and the amusement of cock-fighting, and the brutal and the demoralising of Sunday evening balls and fetes introduced by the Stuarts. So far

POCKET TIMEKEEPERS!
SIXPENCE EACH!! with elegant gilt case and enamelled DIAL interspersed with gold; best finished and warranted correct; post free 6 stamps.—Job Malpas, Kidderminster.

BILLIARD TABLES, LAMPS, AND GAS FITTINGS,

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION, FOR HOME AND FOREIGN USE.

PRIZE MEDAL, GREAT EXHIBITION, 1851.
PRIZE MEDAL, INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION, 1862.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF THE FOLLOWING LONDON CLUBS:—

Army and Navy Club	Grasshopper Club	Prince of Wales Club	St. James' Club
Arlington Club	Guards Club	Pratt's Club	Travelers' Club
Albert Club	Junior United Service Club	Public Schools Club	United Service Club
Carlton Club	Junior Carlton Club	Prince's Regent, Tennis, and	United Arts Club
Conservative Club (By Ap- pointment)	Marshall Club	Billiard Club	United University Club
East India United Service Club	Naval and Military Club	Queen's United Service Club	Union Club
Exeter Club	New University Club	Reform Club	Victoria Club
Exeter Club	Orford and Cambridge Uni- versity Club	Royal Thames Yacht Club	Volunteer Service Club
		Raleigh Club	White's Club
		Stafford Club	Windham Club

BURROUGHS & WATTS, LONDON, W.

M. F. DENT,
CHRONOMETER, WATCH, AND CLOCK
MAKER
TO THE QUEEN,
33 & 34, COCKSPUR-STREET,
CHANCERY CROSS.

DENT'S NEW RACING WATCH.

VIDE THE TIMES AUGUST 9TH, 1865.—"The race was timed with an improved chronograph watch manufactured by M. F. Dent of Cockspur-street. By pressing a spring, a centre second and minute hand are started, and by a second pressure (at the conclusion of the race) both hands are stopped, thus registering the time in minutes and seconds on the face of the dial. On a third pressure the hands fly back to a state of rest at 12."

CAN YOU WRITE WELL?—If not, at once enclose Ten Pattern Stamps, with address, to Mr.
J. J. Welling Institution, St. George's, Newcastle. In return
you will receive (not free) his Complete, Original, and Infallible System, by which persons of any age, either sex, may acquire in a few days a Superior Penmanship. Adapted to every pursuit without the aid of a master. Voluntary testimonials of its practicality enclosed. Please state if a Lady or a Law, or a Business Hand is required.

JACKETS, NEW, FOR NOVEMBER,
House Jacket in new and stylish
5s. 11d. to 16s. 6d.

THE NEW JACKET ROSALINDA,
In cloth of good quality, 12s. 6d.
THE IMPERIAL in ribbed cloth, 16s. 6d.
AMOTT and COMPANY, Crystal Warehouses.

THE NEW JACKET MAYONAISE,
Handsomely braided, 1 Guinea,
AMOTT and COMPANY, 61 and 62, St. Paul's Churchyard.

THE TRUKILLO LAMB JACKET,
Now and exceedingly elegant.
1 Guinea.
AMOTT and COMPANY, Crystal Warehouses.

THE DEVNA SNOW FLAKE JACKET,
Warm, comfortable, and stylish,
12 12s. 6d.
AMOTT and COMPANY, 61 and 62, St. Paul's Churchyard.

THE ROSENAU JACKET AND MUFF,
New and very elegant,
Complete, 22s.
AMOTT and COMPANY, Crystal Warehouses.

THE WALKING JACKET EDELSBERG,
The short, fashionable type.
Velvet, 21s. 6d.; Cloth, 12s. 6d.
AMOTT and COMPANY, 61 and 62, St. Paul's Churchyard.

THE VELVET JACKET VIOLETTA,
Good quality and neat style.
3 guineas.
AMOTT and COMPANY, Crystal Warehouses.

NEW WINTER JACKET PRINCESSE,
In Mount St. Bernard Lambskin.
22 12s. 6d.
AMOTT and COMPANY, 61 and 62, St. Paul's Churchyard.

THE NEW JACKET GRALDA,
A distinguished novelty,
In maroon cloth, 12 guineas.
AMOTT and COMPANY, Crystal Warehouses.

THE VELVET JACKET ISCHIA,
In perfect taste, 4 guineas.
The ROSSINI, very rich, 4 guineas.
AMOTT and COMPANY, 61 and 62, St. Paul's Churchyard.

RICH VELVET JACKETS,
The REGALIA, 6 guineas.
The ALBERT, 5 guineas.
The FLORENCE, 3 guineas.
In rich Velvets trimmed real lace are beautiful in the extreme.
AMOTT and COMPANY, Crystal Warehouses.

WATERPROOF AND STORM CLOAKS,
LARGE CIRCULARS, 5s. 11d. to 1 guinea.
THE SNOWY WATERSPOOF CLOAK, 40s. 6d.
AMOTT and COMPANY, 61 and 62, St. Paul's Churchyard.

CRYSTAL WAREHOUSES.—In consequence of the increased trade of our business transactions, the Crystal Warehouses have now become the LEADING FEATURE of the METROPOLIS, and are daily crowded by ADMIRING THOUSANDS, bearing testimony to the many advantages to be derived in patronising Messrs. AMOTT and COMPANY, where every BRILLIANT NOVELTY is always to be seen. PATRONS OF FASHION AND GOOD TASTE at moderate remunerative charges, accompanied with CIVIL-ITY AND STRICT BUSINESS ATTENTION.
AMOTT and COMPANY, 61 and 62, St. Paul's Churchyard.

ACCIDENTS TO LIFE OR LIMB, in the FIELD, the STREETS, or at HOME,
Provided for by a Policy of the RAILWAY PASSENGERS' ASSURANCE COMPANY
64, CORNHILL, LONDON, E.C.

COMPENSATION HAS BEEN PAID
FOR 1650 CLAIMS
£100 IN CASE OF DEATH,
20 per Week while laid up by Injury, secured by an Annual Payment of from £5 to £5 6s.

For particulars apply to the Clerks at the Railway Stations to the Local Agents, or at the Office, 64, CORNHILL, and 10, REGENT-STREET.

W. J. VIAN, Secretary.

IMPERIAL TOBACCO MANUFACTORIES OF THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT.

Tobacco, Snuff, and Cigars

Manufactured by the
FRENCH GOVERNMENT.

Havannah Cigars

Imported by the
FRENCH GOVERNMENT.

Cigars from 1d. upwards. List of Prices sent free on Application.

Discount allowed on all Orders of { £1 — 5 per cent.
£10 — 10 per cent.All Orders of or above £1 sent immediately, Carriage Free, to any Railway Station in the United Kingdom.WHOLESALE & RETAIL WAREHOUSE, 109, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.
R. SMITH, Manager.

The Times Wine Company.

THE TIMES, in a Leading Article on September 8, treated at some length of the heretofore existing difficulty that the Public experienced in obtaining good Wines at reasonable prices. The formation of the TIMES WINE COMPANY has removed that difficulty by supplying the following genuine Wines at prices that, quality considered, are unexcelled.

Beaujolais	15/ and 18/	Chablis	12/ 16/ and upwards
Champagne	30/	Sherry and Port	16/ 20/ 24/ 30/
Sillery, 48/	30/	Bouzy, 60/	and upwards
Claret	12/ 16/ 20/ 24/ and upwards	Fine Old Crusted Ports from	30/ upwards

The finest Cognac Brandy, bottled in France, 42/ 48/ 54/ and 60/ bottles and cases included.

TERMS, CASH ONLY, WHICH MUST ACCOMPANY THIS ORDER.

ALL WINE NOT APPROVED OF WILL BE ALLOWED FOR, IF RETURNED WITHIN A WEEK.

SAMPLES SENT ON RECEIPT OF POST OFFICE ORDER, PAYABLE TO

T. LAXTON, MANAGER,

75, GREAT TOWER-STREET, LONDON, E.

REGISTERED

TRADE MARK

ON EACH

TELESCOPE.

THE "DYER" TELESCOPE.

With Leather Sling and Case, 10s. 6d., or with Astronomical Eye-piece, 15s. 6d.

THIS TELESCOPE has an Achromatic Object-glass 1.1 inch diameter. It possesses a magnifying power of 144 times, and will read a church clock at 4 miles, and distinguish windows in houses at 9 miles. The Astronomical Eye-piece and Sun-glass, magnifying 364 times, converts it into an Astronomical Telescope, showing Jupiter with his Satellites, the Solar Spots, Lunar Mountains, &c. Illustrated descriptions and testimonials post free.

Carriage Free to Any Railway Station in England.

Manufactured only by E. G. WOOD, Optician, &c., 74, Cheapside, London.

ATKINSON AND CO.,
Cabinetmakers, Carpet Warehousemen, Upholsterers, and House Agents.

FURNITURE.—Drawing-room Suites, in new and elegant designs, covered in rep, lorry cloths, French and Silk Damasks, &c. A large stock of Bath and Manservant Cabinets, in sizes from 36, to 66 in.
Drawing-room Sets, in Oak and Mahogany. Polished Deal for Bedrooms, and Painted Furniture in every colour. All bedding made on the premises, and under special supervision.

CARPETS.—Turkey, Velvet and Brussels, Kidder and Felts.

FURNISHING DRAPERY, of every description, Damask, Rep, and Pekin Cloths, with every new texture for Curtains. A very large and well-chosen stock of Blankets, Sheetings, Household Linens, &c.
The wardrobe or sideboard of Messrs. Atkinson and Co. becomes an heirloom, or, if offered for sale, the credit of its durable manufacture is frequently given to some well-known West-end firm. Illustrated News of the World.

THE numerous applications which have been received for some time past by ATKINSON and CO. have induced them to add the HOUSE AGENCY to their General Furnishing business, and they therefore now announce that they will now be happy to receive the instructions of their friends who wish to let or desire to take houses.
This branch will be conducted on the same fair and liberal system for which Atkinson and Co. have long been distinguished.

FAVOURABLE PROSPECTS FOR THE COMING WINTER.—In the face of a rising market, Blankets, Flannels, and other materials for WARM CLOTHING may be secured on the usual terms, by timely application to Atkinson and Co. This announcement is made especially in the interest of Charitable Institutions.

REAL SCOTCH WHISKIES, for AUTUMN and WINTER, manufactured expressly for Atkinson and Co. by an eminent firm in the North. A heavy consignment just received, embracing every variety of style and every shade of colour. Prices per yard, 41s., 44s., 74s., 94s., 104s., 124s., 164s., 174s., and upwards.
Patterns on application or per post.

ATKINSON AND CO.,

198, 200, 202, 204, 206, 208, and 210, WESTMINSTER BRIDGE ROAD.

WRITE FOR PATTERNS TO THE GREAT CLOTHIER,

A. LYNE

KENSINGTON.

ONE POUND

OVERCOATS.

YOUTH'S 10s. 6d. OVERCOATS, in all Sizes, Colours, and Styles.

Patterns and Self-measurement, Directions, &c., sent Post Free, on Application to

A. LYNES, OPPOSITE THE G.E.R. STATION, 193, SHOREDITCH, N.E.

Established 23 years. Country Trade supplied on easy terms.

E. MOSES & SON,

GENERAL OUTFITTERS,

HABIT MAKERS,

TAILORS,

HATTERS,

HOSIERS,

WOOLLEN DRAPERS,

BOOT AND SHOE MAKERS.

E. MOSES & SON

HAVE SEPARATE DEPARTMENTS FOR

BESPOKE CLOTHING,

READY-MADE CLOTHING

MOURNING,

LIVERIES,

UNIFORMS,

SAILORS' CLOTHING,

MECHANICS' CLOTHING,

HOSIERY,

SHAWLS AND MANTLES,

LADIES' UNDERCLOTHING,

BOOTS AND SHOES.

E. MOSES & SON'S

LONDON ESTABLISHMENTS:—

MINORIES AND ALDGADE,

NEW OXFORD STREET,

TOTTENHAM COURT ROAD.

COUNTRY BRANCH:—

BRADFORD, YORKSHIRE.

VERY IMPORTANT TO TAILORS.

"PLATT'S TWEEDS," the very best article that can be made for Gentlemen's Riding Trowsers, are now ready, and can only be had of JAMES PLATT & CO., 75, St. Martin's Lane, W.C. Patterns sent free—3 per cent. allowed for cash.
On and after July 1 all patterns will be repaid.

FOR THE MILLION.

A Marvel of Ingenuity and Cheapness. The newly invented "Pocket Time Piece," with handsome metal case and an extremely small and accurate inter-persed with gold, &c. Price is, by post 14 stamps.—Ward and Co., Kilner, near Shrewsbury.

NEW WEEKLY PAPER!

ON SATURDAY, DEC. 9,

New and Full Sized Weekly Newspaper,

"EVERY DAY LIFE."WITH most new candidates for public favor in the field of periodical literature we are accustomed to receive an introduction to a new series of glowing terms a list of claims to attention that perfectly bewilders the reader, and he load many a worthy individual into a belief that to withhold the support asked for is to be guilty of a neglect of duty to self and society, and an oversight of the great battle of life, and peace and progress of the nation. In these addresses much that is promising is impossible to perform, and much more desired at that it is never likely to see the light. The great mistake made being the false supposition that literature is a pleasant recreation is looked upon by the public as a branch of the business of life. This is not our view. A weekly newspaper, at least the weekly newspaper that is not devoted to a particular class, should be an undoubted luxury. Once prepare it as a want, and its great charm is lost. It should be an extension of every movement in the great battle of life, and should be compiled with the view of making it worth the attention of the individual who has but one day in the week to devote to the study of every day events of interest. To make such a journal the more acceptable it is our opinion that the services of the artist should be called to the work of the pen, and that a striking illustration has more powerful impressing itself on the memory than the most graphic description could achieve.

Moreover we think that hard fact can be agreeably relieved by being placed in juxtaposition with pleasant fiction, and that the business of life may be made pleasant by a association with its amusements.

Anticipating these views we launch on the sea of public opinion a novel newspaper called EVERY DAY LIFE, and ask for it a favourable reception.

EVERY DAY LIFE is a full-sized Newspaper, combining the most prominent features of the popular magazine. It is a title indicates a summary of every DAY LIFE in all its phases; and amongst its general contents will be found

THE LIFE OF A CABMAN.

THE LIFE OF A POLICEMAN.

MYSTERIOUS PRISON.

MYSTERIOUS ROBBER.

WORKHOUSE LIFE.

BOHEMIAN LIFE.

HIGH LIFE AND LOW LIFE.

LIFE OF AN ACTOR.

LIFE OF A BALDHEAD.

LIFE IN THE LAW COURTS.

LIFE IN PARLIAMENT.

LIFE IN THE THEATRES.

SPORTING LIFE.

LIFE IN OUR WORKSHOPS.

CONTINENTAL LIFE.

AND

THE LIVES OF MEN WHO HAVE MADE THEMSELVES BY STUDYING THE REQUIREMENTS OF EVERY DAY LIFE.

These features will be profusely illustrated with scenes, views, and portraits, and relieved with selections of wit humour, comic sketches, puzzles, complete stories, short essays, and a continuous work of fiction, possessed of startling interest, and entitled

MISSED IN THE MINUTES: A Tale of Every Day Life in London.

With this programme we are thoroughly satisfied that we shall achieve the great object we have in view, viz., that of introducing to the public an entirely new and acceptable form of the fact and fiction of Every Day Life.

Printed and Published for the Proprietors by J. CARRUTHERS at the Office, 162, Fleet-street, in the City of London.